Johnnie L. Davis, Jr.

- Testified in U.S. District Court against an alleged participant of a bank bustout scheme involving over 100 subjects and over 500 bank accounts with a loss exceeding $17 million. Walked the jury through highlights of over 100 pages of exhibits that I produced. Successfully answered unexpected, expert witness level questioning from the defense even though I was a fact witness. The jury commented that my testimony was very credible and professional. The Acting U.S. Attorney, Central District of California, wrote a letter of commendation to Director Comey for my hard work and professional testimony.
- Assigned as the financial expert just before a superseding indictment of a bank fraud investigation. Summarized several boxes of bank records covering numerous loan lifespans with 18 bank fraud related counts in seven separate timelines. Testified in U.S. District Court, walking the jury through the effects of the defendant's actions over the life of the loans, bringing order and clarity to the victims' and witnesses' previous testimony. The jury found the defendant guilty of 11 counts of bank fraud, false entry, and misapplication of credit union funds.
- Identified and analyzed over 500 bank, credit card, and payment processor accounts involved in a multi-million-dollar synthetic identity and merchant account fraud scheme. A search warrant included my financial analysis which led to the arrest and eventual pleas of the two leaders and seizure of over $9 million in assets located across three continents.
- Investigated dozens of Business Email Compromise (BEC) schemes. Compiled and analyzed evidence obtained from victims, domestic and overseas financial institutions, other government agencies, and internet companies. Identified commonalities among the subjects' tactics, further investigative leads, and potential targets of future attacks.
- While assigned to a BEC case in LAFO, I identified a money mule located in North Carolina. After performing additional investigation on the subject, I reached out to a Special Agent in NC whom I had previously worked with and brought him up to speed. I helped coordinate and participated in the interview of the mule which led to an indictment and guilty plea.
- Presented at the 2016 BEC All-Hands Conference in L.A., attended by over 50 government and industry experts. I presented on charging BEC money mules as an unlicensed money service transmitter and how to identify BEC money mules.
- First forensic accountant assigned to the Cyber Financial Pursuit Unit at the National Cyber Investigation Joint Task Force. Consulted with cyber agents to identify additional financial leads and performed analysis for cyber cases with a financial element.
- Assisted a cyber agent with investigating a large scale, global money mule organization. As the agent had little financial investigation experience, took the lead in determining what evidence the AUSAs required. Collected and analyzed the evidence provided by numerous financial institutions. Prepared reports tying financial records to non-traditional evidence obtained via cyber methods, producing seamless analysis of data acquired across the globe. Analysis contributed towards the indictment of four individuals located overseas.
- Led a fellow FAST member and a contractor in the analysis of a serial killer's financial records, developing a detailed timeline of the subject's whereabouts. Presented the findings to a multi-agency case coordination meeting in Seattle. Agents often referenced these results and later released them to the media for additional leads.
- Assigned to a case that a forensic accountant was already working due to the substantial quantity of financial records involved. The case involved several dozen subjects conspiring to commit hundreds of bank frauds. Once acclimated to the case, led a planning meeting to establish expectations with the case agents, forensic accountant, and her supervisor. My recommendations encouraged the supervisor to reduce the administrative requirements of the other FoA, speeding up the completion of our analysis that contributed to the arrest of 14 individuals.
- Prepared questions for, led and/or assisted over a dozen subject and witness interviews and proffers.
- Trained over 40 law enforcement personnel from West African nations in Accra, Ghana. Presented for three days on financial investigative topics such as money laundering, forensic accounting, and emerging payment technologies.
- Coordinated with case agents, Assistant US Attorneys, and other analysts to determine investigative strategies, and helped write asset forfeiture and search warrant affidavits resulting in the seizure of millions of dollars.
